

There are three main potential sources of cross-contamination when performing the test:

- Skin contact
- Aerosolized particles (airborne)
- Saliva/body fluids droplets

